West Central Electric Cooperative, Inc. ~ Serving our members' needs since 1939

Contractors are at work around cooperative's system

As West Central Electric strives to keep its system in tip-top shape, that means hiring contractors to perform speciality inspections and line work.

Members are reminded that from time to time, various contractors will be working around the cooperative system inspecting poles, taking care of brush removal and constructing power lines.

"Although the contractors are not technically employees of the cooperative, we want our members to feel comfortable that they are authorized by us to be out on our system working on things for our members," Engineering Manager Dan Disberger said. "Members may verify this through badges and signage carried by contractors and displayed on their vehicles."

All contractors will carry photo identification badges designating them as a contractor for WCE, as well as have

"Contractor for West Central Electric" signs on their trucks.

As always, if you have questions,

565-4942.

Some of the contractors working with WCE include brush contractors contractors from Scobee Power Line Construction.

Signs like this one will be displayed on contractor vehicles working around the WCE system. Contractors will also carry photo identification badges indicating they are working for WCE.

please don't hesitate to contact the cooperative at 800-491-3803 or 816-

Pole inspections will last through winter on Centerview Substation

Contractors from Lee Inspection began work inspecting the poles on the Centerview Substation in October, and the work is expected to last through January and possibly February 2019, according to Disberger.

This will include mainly areas northwest and northeast of Holden.

Questions should be directed to Disberger at 800-491-3803 or 816-565-4942.

ALWAYS READY AND WILLING TO LEND A HAND...The 6th Cooperative Principle -- Cooperation Among Cooperatives -- was kicked into overdrive this fall when crews from several states mobilized to aid South Carolina electric cooperatives. In fact, the response was so great that several crews that arrived to help were sent back before they could get to work. A total of 182 linemen from nearly every cooperative in the state of Missouri volunteered to help. (Left photo) Line Foreman Todd Gast and Journeyman Scott Gard load up the trucks. (Above) WCE linemen who traveled to South Carolina were (l-r) Gard, Journeyman Brandon Steffen, Gast and Journeyman Zac Wallpe. WCE linemen arrived in South Carolina, but were part of the group sent back early.

WCE offices will be closed the following holidays in November:

Monday, Nov. 12 in observance of Veterans Day

Thursday, Nov. 22 and Friday, Nov. 23 in observance of Thanksgiving

From the Manager...

Taking the time to share our thanks

“Feeling gratitude and not expressing it is like wrapping a present and not giving it.”

In the spirit of this quote by author William Arthur Ward, I’d like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude for your membership in our electric cooperative. Because of your connection to West Central Electric Cooperative, we are able to make our community a better place.

This newsletter provides updates on new projects and developments, offers you safety and efficiency information and reports on the progress of your cooperative. We share these updates so that all of our consumer-members have a window into our priorities, progress and challenges. However, during this season of giving thanks, I think it’s equally important to let you, our members, know just what an impact you have on our co-op and the greater community, likely in ways you may not even realize.

As part of the cooperative business model, one of our core principles is “Concern for Community.” While our priority is always to provide safe, reliable and affordable energy, we view our role in the community as a catalyst for good.

We are purposeful in partnering with local organizations like chambers of commerce, 4-H groups and FFA chapters. We join other area organizations in participating in the MVCAA back-to-school fairs to provide resources and school supplies to those in need. We work closely with our local schools to provide safety demonstrations and award college scholarships.

WCE also participates in the Rural Electric Youth Tour where we take our community’s brightest young people to Washington, D.C. for a week-long immersion to experience democracy in action. The trip is inspirational for many students, and we are both humbled and honored to be a part of this leadership development journey. We send students to our state capital to take part in the Cooperative Youth Conference and Leadership Experience where they can author and debate their own bill on the floor of the Missouri House of Representatives.

We have established the newly-formed Operation Round Up program to assist area organizations with projects they would be otherwise unable to accomplish.

Ultimately, the larger community benefits from these programs because of you! You empower the co-op through your membership and through your participation in and support of these programs.

When you attend co-op events, alert us to problems, provide suggestions online or to our employees, you help us improve operations and thereby better serve the larger co-op membership.

Because we are locally-governed by members of our community, we are able to get a first-hand perspective on community priorities, thereby enabling us to make more informed decisions on long-term investments such as equipment and technology upgrades.

We are thankful that our co-op board members carve out time to attend important training sessions, participate in planning meetings and keep abreast of industry trends. This investment in time results in better informed advisors that serve the co-op’s interests in a way that our consumer-members expect and deserve.

On a more personal note, we appreciate the countless acts of kindness our lineworkers and other employees receive when they are working in severe weather and dangerous conditions. Our employees are thankful for your patience and consideration when we are trying to restore power during challenging situations.

West Central Electric was originally established almost 80 years ago to bring electricity to our area when no one else would. The cooperative is a reflection of our local community and its evolving needs. Together, let’s continue making our corner of the world a better place. We can’t do it without you, and for that, we’re thankful for your membership.

Tighten up basement and crawl space to save energy

If you live in a house with an unheated basement or in one built on an uninsulated slab or crawl space, you know it can leak energy like a sieve.

To stop the energy leaks and become more comfortable, consider bringing these unconditioned spaces into the “building envelope.” That’s the shield you put in place with insulation, caulking and weatherstripping to keep conditioned and unconditioned air from mixing.

Start with sealing and caulking holes and cracks that leak air. Then insulate. The U.S. Department of Energy’s Energy Savers, recommends insulating:

- All exterior walls, including walls between living spaces and unheated garages, shed roofs, or storage areas — use loose-fill or sprayed foam insulation • Foundation walls above ground level

- Foundation walls in heated basements, full wall either interior or exterior

- Floors above cold spaces, such as vented crawl spaces and unheated garages

- Any portion of the floor in a room that is cantilevered beyond the exterior wall below

- Slab floors built directly on the ground

- Foundation walls of unvented crawl spaces — this is an alternative to insulating the floor between the crawl space and the house and now considered the best approach

- Joist space to reduce air flows

Prepare for winter storms

When winter temperatures drop and storms hit, it can be challenging to stay safe and warm. Winter storm severity varies depending on where you live, but nearly all Americans are affected by extreme winter storms at some point.

Heavy snow and ice can lead to downed power lines, leaving co-op members without power. During extremely low temperatures, this can be dangerous. During a power outage, our crews will continue to work as quickly and safely as possible to restore power, but there are a few things you can do to prepare yourself.

•Stay warm – Use a safe alternate heating source, such as a fireplace or wood-burning stove during a power outage -- but exercise caution when using, and never leave the heating source unattended. Never use gasoline-, propane- or natural gas-burning devices indoors.

•Stay fed – Have several days' supply of food that does not need to be cooked handy. Crackers, cereal, canned goods and bread are good options. Also, keep five gallons of water per person.

•Stay safe – Power lines may be down, so if you must, bring a survival kit along, and do not travel alone. If you encounter downed lines, always assume they are live and stay away.
